Terms & Conditions

Introduction

Welcome to Dublin Alert. By accessing or using this website, you agree to comply with these Terms & Conditions. If you do not agree with these terms, please do not use the website.

About Dublin Alert

Dublin Alert is an independent digital media platform providing news, information and updates relating to incidents, emergency services, Gardaí, road and transport, courts, events and other matters of public interest in Dublin.

News Accuracy and Developing Information

Dublin Alert aims to provide accurate and up-to-date information. However, information relating to developing incidents can change quickly, and initial reports may be incomplete or subject to change as further information becomes available.

We may update, correct or amend articles when new information becomes available. While we make reasonable efforts to ensure the accuracy of our reporting, Dublin Alert does not guarantee that all information published on the website will always be complete, accurate or current.

Use of Information

The information published on Dublin Alert is provided for general information and news purposes. Content should not be treated as professional, legal, medical, financial or other specialist advice.

Readers should verify important information with the relevant official authority or organisation where appropriate.

Third Party Information and Sources

Dublin Alert may report information obtained from official statements, public authorities, emergency services, social media, eyewitnesses, members of the public and other sources.

Where information is provided by third parties, Dublin Alert cannot guarantee the accuracy or completeness of that information. We may update or correct information when further details become available.

User Submitted Content

Users may contact Dublin Alert or submit information, photographs, videos or other material for possible publication.

By submitting material, you confirm that you have the right to provide it and that its use does not knowingly infringe another person's copyright or other rights.

Dublin Alert reserves the right to decide whether submitted material is suitable for publication and may edit, decline or remove submitted content where appropriate.

Copyright and Intellectual Property

Unless otherwise stated, content created and published by Dublin Alert, including original articles, graphics, branding and other original material, is protected by applicable intellectual property laws.

You may view and share links to Dublin Alert content for personal and non-commercial purposes, provided that the content is not presented as your own.

You must not reproduce, republish, modify, distribute or commercially exploit Dublin Alert's original content without appropriate permission, except where permitted by law.

External Links

Dublin Alert may contain links to websites, social media accounts or other third-party services.

These websites are operated independently of Dublin Alert. We are not responsible for the content, availability, accuracy, security or privacy practices of external websites.

Website Availability

We aim to keep Dublin Alert available and functioning properly, but we do not guarantee that the website will always be available, uninterrupted or free from errors.

We may temporarily suspend, modify or remove parts of the website where necessary for maintenance, security, updates or other reasons.

Changes to These Terms

Dublin Alert may update or change these Terms & Conditions from time to time. Any updated version will be published on this page.

Your continued use of the website after changes are published means that you accept the updated Terms & Conditions.
